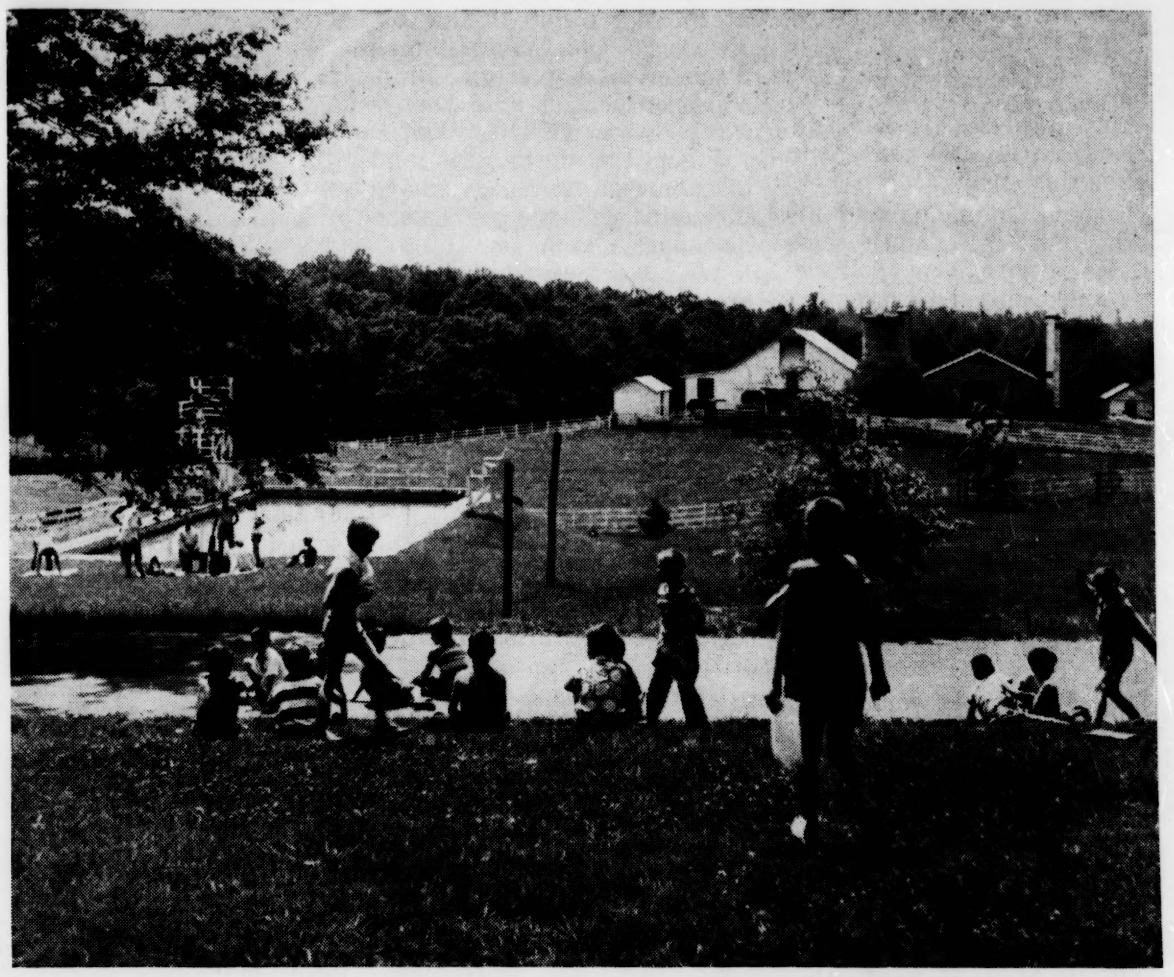
VOL. 36 BARIUM SPRINGS, N. C., JULY-AUGUST, 1959 No. 7-8



A campus scene shows the children headed for the swimmin' hole. Since the swimming pool is the heart of the summer play time, a new one for Barium Springs is on the "must" list.

Summer Program Is Busy Time

When the school doors close for the summer recess, the Barium life begins to hum. It is no easy matter to keep five hundred acres under cultivation, harvesting hay from a hundred of these acres and combining 5,000 bushels of small grain, planting and cutting enough ensilage to fill three trenches, holding all together five hundred tons. Six hundred bearing peach trees must be sprayed regularly, as well as the eight hundred apple trees. The grounds must be cultivated and cared for with the weeds kept cut down. The crates have to be mended and made ready for the summer and fall crop of fruit.

The dairy crew is busy mending fences in the five-mile pasture, looking out for the one hundred head of cattle in the beef herd, and milking the forty-five Holsteins that make up the dairy herd. This crew also has undertaken to paint the inside and outside of the milking barn to meet the top specifications of the County Health Department.

While the farmers are busy trying to kill grass, the campus crew is busy trying to get it to grow, trimmed and looking neat. Shrubbery must be cut back, screens must be repaired, painting must be done, floors must be sanded and fixed, wiring has to be replaced, light bulbs checked, the plumbing lines kept repaired and the sewage disposal system kept running. Of course, these jobs are primarily for the boys and men, but never think for one minute that the women and girls are not just as busy. Three meals a day to be prepared for this large family and the dishes washed and made sterile, ready to start over again the next day with three more meals. The truck brings the big baskets of clothes into the laundry and throughout the week Mrs. Murdoch and her crew are busy washing and ironing for the family. The sewing room is running full blast to catch up on the needs that were laid aside for the special work on evening dresses for Junior-Senior and commencement, etc., and the machines are really humming. In addition to these, the Infirmary must be maintained, the cottages must be served, and a thousand and one other things seem to come up during the day.

All is not work, for there is time for play. Swimming and tennis, softball and skating, together with the song fests and folk dancing—these plus a little special dating on campus and off add spice to the life of the summer program.

Worship, too, is a large part of the summer at Barium Springs. Summer camps and conferences are open, the Bible School is conducted, special Young People's programs and the regular services of worship through the Church School and Church Services prevail. It is an interesting, busy and wonderful time.

Barium Springs Elementary School Recommended For State Accreditation

(By Mrs. Blanche S. Reitzel, Supervisor Iredell County Elementary Schools)

At the close of the school year 1958-59 Barium Springs Elementary School was recommended to the State Department of Public Instruction for state accreditation. The recommendation was made by C. G. Credle, Superintendent of Iredell County Schools and Mrs. Blanche S. Reitzel, Elementary Supervisor.

The State Department of Public Instruction has set up standards which schools must meet if they are to be placed on the list of accredited schools in North Carolina. Minimum requirements are the same for all schools whether they are in large cities or in rural areas. These requirements are all inclusive because they cover such things as: organization and administration, school buildings and grounds, teaching materials and equipment, and certification of teachers; as well as the instructional program.

Provision of the school building and teaching equipment is the responsibility of those who provide funds for operating the Children's Home at Barium Springs. The type of instructional program provided is largely the responsibility of those serving on the school faculty. In preparation for school accreditation the faculty devoted a great

UNDER THE STEEPLE

By Rev. Hugh B. Carter, Jr.

June 28, the last Sunday before vacation was an exciting day under the steeple of Little Joe's Church. The morning worship began with a processional led by the thirty-two members of the choir, who were followed by the seven candidates for baptism and reception to the Lord's Supper. Then came the Session followed by the Reverend Albert B. McClure and the pastor. Mae Jolly, Linda Bridgers, Naoka Spencer, and Peggy Jo Utsman received the sacrament of baptism. Charles McBennett, Billy Finley, and Linda Sue Medlin joined the candidates in making their profession of faith in Jesus Christ, and all were admitted to the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

There were two infant baptisms during the month of June. Richard Terrell Hall, the son of Deacon and Mrs. Terrell Hall was baptized on June 21 at the morning worship. At the same time Laura Michele Horsman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Horsman, grandchild of Elder and Mrs. C. L. Donaldson, received the sacrament. Both infants are grandchildren of Barium Springs.

The wedding of our beloved and talented organist and choir director, Miss Charlotte Willard Calhoun to Mr. Clinton Eugene Clontz of Troutman, took place on Saturday afternoon, July 11 under the steeple. Mr. and Mrs. Clontz will make their home nearby and we shall have the good fortune of the continuing services of our church organist.

Sunday visitors were numerous during the month of June. They came from Charlotte, Statesville, Indian Hill, Monroe, N. Wilkesboro, Jamestown and Troutman. The Junior Departments of Vacation Church Schools from Mooresville Second Presbyterian Church and Statesville were weekday visitors during June. Other groups came from Fayetteville and Spring Lake.

The Pioneers watched a close race to the finish in their group contest which closed on June 14. The Prophets, headed by Peggy Bridgers, nosed out the Princes by one point, and the Apostles who had set the pace most of the way came in third just two points behind the winners. Tommy Joyner led the Princes, and Frosty Murdoch was the chief Apostle. The winning team composed of Peggy Bridgers, Rita Harris, Judy Smith, Larry Ruff, Dempsey Tyndall and Arthur Weincken, enjoyed a supper at a local restaurant, followed by a night swimming party at Grace Park Recreation Center in Statesville.

As the minister marks the passing of his first year under the steeple of Little Joe's Church on the campus of Barium Springs, he recalls the voice of the Psalmist, "The lines have fallen for me in pleasant places yea, I have a goodly heritage."

COTTAGE NEWS

Lottie Walker

Hi Friends—

We are sorry that we have not had any news in the Messenger lately. Maybe this will make up for it. Linda Bridgers and Peggy Jo Utsman are at Pioneer Camp this week. Two weks ago Linda Utsman attended Senior High Camp. Vacation is just a few days away—we can hardly wait.

Since the dewberries and blackberries are ripe, we have had dewberry pie and some blackberry jam.

We have been making good use of the tennis court—both for tennis and dancing.

Two of our girls, Linda Bridgers and Peggy Jo Utsman, joined the Church last Sunday.

The Infirmary

Hi Folks!

We are all busy at the Infirmary getting ready for vacation which starts on July 3rd.

Everyone has been picking blackberries to sell or just to make pies or jam.

We had a lot of fun at the Senior High Camp. Camp will be over Saturday when the Pioneers come back.

Everyone is enjoying the new tennis court and the dances held there.

We are all looking forward to vacation and to seeing our people.

BARIUM SPRINGS ELEMENTARY SCHOOL RECOMMENDED FOR SIATE ACCREDIATION

deal of time to professional study, and to evaluating the total instructional program in the school. The remainder of this article is a summary of their professional study and evaluation.

In evaluating the school program, it was necessary first of all to look at our Philosophy of Education. We believe that:

1. Education should enable a person to make a better living, but should also enable him to live a happier and more complete life through interest in and appreciation of literature, music, art, and religion.

2. Initiative and self-expression should be encouraged and guided into channels of service, co-operative effort, tolerance, and respect for duly constituted authority.

3. Education should be flexible so as to meet individual needs; that is, to help each child to develop to his maximum capacity.

4. Students should be taught to expect change and to adjust themselves to it, to think logically in problem situations; and to form judgments in the light of facts, rather than prejudices.

5. Education should develop ethical character through training in honesty in all school work, fair play in athletics, respect for property, and in an attitude of reverence toward sacred things.

6. It is especially important in our school, that the children be given a feeling of security in the assurance that someone loves them.

7. It is vital to have a maximum co-operative effort by the school, home, church, etc., in order to meet the needs of the child.

In determining the task of the school it was deemed necessary for the school program not only to meet the needs of the child but also to consider the society in which he lives. We felt the need of impressing upon the child the importance of learning things in order to be a better citizen, not only in our present community but for future life in any community.

In appraising school living and attacking problems in teaching areas, it was agreed that efforts should be made to work more closely with houseparents and social workers in the guidance and development of our students. Boys and girls need to see and understand the value of their school experiences. More participation and planning on their part would create interest and give them a more meaningful school and home life.

A discussion on resources seemed to indicate that more use could be made of those things about us and that more pupil participation might add enthusiasm. It was agreed that there are many possibilities in our immediate community.

In looking back over our school philosophy and then seeking an evaluation of the growth of a child, it seemed evident that we do not always take all things into consideration. Family backgrounds and emotional situations often cause our children to perform strangely under certain circumstances. Therefore, many things must be considered as we attempt to evaluate pupil growth. At Barium Springs the teachers have frequent conferences with the children and observe their work closely, giving help and encouragement to each individual. A congenial, friendly relationship between members of the faculty makes a healthy atmosphere for doing the best work with children.

We discussed Improving School Living through the School Lunch Program. The need for the development of desirable food habits and good table manners was stressed. Proper training in conversation with respect to topics and tone was mentioned. The lunch period affords further opportunity for proper emotional and social development. Different age groups sit together at the same table, and that gives more of a normal home atmosphere.

The Language Arts are the arts of communication which include: clear thinking, vivid speech, intelligible writing, appreciative listening, reading with comprehension and appreciation, skillful use of books and libraries, correct spelling and legible handwriting. After discussing these areas, the following conclusions were reached.

Listening habits can be improved by opportunities to listen to materials at each child's maturity level, dictation exercises, questions on materials read to group, and effective oral reading of stories and poems.

Speaking and writing opportunities are given in meaningful situations such as class discussions, stories, programs, Santa Claus letters, and choral reading. Remedial work is based on the child's need.

Spelling is emphasized in all subjects in addition to a daily period. Each child is encouraged to keep his own list of spelling "demons". Much time is spent in developing skills in syllables, sounds, accent, and meaning.

Penmanship is taught in a less formal way, emphasizing correct letter formation and a legible handwriting in all written work.

As we evaluated the arithmetic program, the following are some of our findings: In the primary grades children often have opportunity to use numbers in functional situations. Some of these are operating a play store, observing a clock in the school room, distributing classroom materials, choosing teams and keeping score for teams.

Through the management of the concession stand at athletic events, the upper grades have actual experience in making change, calculating profits, and in keeping records of money spent.

In looking at our science program, it was felt that we might emphasize more and richer experiences for each child. Opportunities should be given to enable individuals to make discoveries for themselves by observation and experiment.

Social Studies provide many opportunities for the children to grow in understandings and skills necessary for effective living in a democratic society. It is important for each teacher to know what goes on in the years below her grade and what takes place in the following grades. One means of achieving effective group living is to have class officers and various clubs. This provides opportunity for the teacher and pupils to work together closely.

We felt most proud of our program when we talked about Physical Education, Health and Safety. Our annual physical examinations and follow-ups, our physical education facilities, and past safety records were reviewed, but we all realized the need for special emphasis on posture, and the effects of our program on out of school life.

Our Music program has been a very satisfying part of our school life. We have almost one hundred per cent participation in our special voluntary choral groups for boys and girls.

Through our art program children are provided ways and means of improving and enriching their lives. They are encouraged to develop a greater appreciation of their own work and the work of others.

As we discussed each of the various topics we asked ourselves these questions:

1. What are our strengths in this particular area?
2. What are our weaknesses in this area?
3. What immediate plans can we make for removal of these weaknesses?
4. What long-range plans can be made to eliminate these weaknesses.
